REMINISCENCES.

BY AN OLD-TIMER.

No. 16.

By an easy transition from subjects not pleasant to contemplate, but which the writer could not ignore and yet be a faithful chronicler of events, to those more congenial to his feelings, reference is next had to the county's representation in the General Assemblies of Kentucky since the year 1800. The names enrolled will serve to remind some, and inform others, of those who have been instructed to make laws for the government of the people. These names are recorded at Frankfort, and they may yet be upon the pages of unwritten history. They are as follows:

Charles Polk, 1800-7; William Hardin, 1810-12; John Searrett, 1811-24-25; Joseph Huston, 1813, died in office and vacancy filled by Wm. Hardin; James Moorman, 1814-15-16; Edward Chew, 1817-18; Robert Stephens, 1819; David R. Murray, 1820-27; David Stephens, 1820; Anselm Watkins, 1827-28; John Calhoun, 1829-30-31; Jefferson Jennings, 1832; Henry Washington, 1837; Alfred Allen, 1838; Ben Southworth, 1839; Charles Hamilton, 1843-47; Joseph T. Smith, 1848-51; Nathaniel R. Lightfoot, 1847; Joseph A. McClary, 1848; John B. Brunner, 1849-50; Joshua H. Thomas, 1851-3; Thomas Alexander, 1853-5; Gideon P. Jolly, 1855-7; William A. Barton, 1857-9; David C. Gannaway, 1859-61; Alfred Allen, 1861-67, but elected State Treasurer in 1866, and succeeded in the Legislature by Charles Allen, 1869-67; John Allen Murray, 1867-9; Dudley Hamilton, 1869-71; Jonas D. Wilson, 1871-3; Thomas M. Miller, 1873-5; J. W. Drury, 1875-9; Thomas J. Lewis, 1877-8; R. R. Pierce, 1879-80; Green W. Beard, 1881-2; E. R. Pennington, 1883-4; James Blandford, 1885-8; Tice Jolly, 1889-90.

David R. Murray was elected State Senator while a resident of Hawesville, subsequently removed temporarily to Colorado during the election, but did not resign his position as Senator, and was recognized at Frankfort during the session as the Senator from Colorado.

Hon. Late Green, of Falls of Rough, was subsequently State Senator of one term, succeeded by Dr. Byers, of Grayson county, and the position was subsequently filled by James S. Wortham, of Letchfield.

The farm on Long Lick, the late residence of Thomas J. Lewis, deceased, was owned and occupied successively by Mr. Anselm Watkins, Dr. J. H. Thomas, and Mr. Lewis, and each one of these represented the county in the Legislature. It might be a good investment for some aspiring gentleman to buy that farm and thus place himself in the line of safe precedents for political reform.

Of the Representatives named, fifteen were residents of Hardinsburg, four of Cloverport, five from the Long Lick section, three from the Bewleyville section, two from Holt's Bottom, two from Quality Corner, two from the upper part of the county, two from the Long Lick section, one from Clover Creek, and two from other sections. The average term of service is something over two years, although a number served longer, but it will be remembered that previous to the adoption of the present Constitution, sessions were held annually.

Previous to the election of Representatives in 1877, the "Grange" movement had taken shape—an organization somewhat similar to the present Farmers' Alliance. A long period of depression had existed and the farmers concluded to make some effort to better their condition—a proceeding of the greatest importance, and certainly demanded by every consideration. Accordingly steps were taken on this new idea, radical measures were proposed and to a considerable extent carried into effect; middle men were to be knocked out, buying all to be done from first hands, "Grange Stores" were opened in towns and different neighborhoods in the country, on the co-operative plan; old merchants were to be ignored for a time, and new ones were to be established; some merchandise had supplied them with food and clothing on credit for years. There and many other matters introduced in the interest of reform, it was hoped, would soon bring about better times.

As a result of these things, a majority percentage of Grangers were elected to the Legislature next succeeding session, of 1877-79; at that time they had sufficient strength to shape business to suit their ideas, and it was known as the "Grange" Legislature. They reduced taxes, in the interest of the farmer, it was supposed, but, singularly enough, neglected to reduce expenses at the same time—even collected in full the usual price for their services, including mileage and stationery. The result was a deficit in the treasury, which the next Legislature—session of 1879-80—was called on to provide for by increasing the taxes again and reducing salaries, fees and other expenses. Much of this curtailing of expenses was done away with by the succeeding meeting of the General Assembly. In the year 1880, the Grange movement had been found not to work well; bickering and dissensions arose; Grangers differed as to the course to be

TERRELL

Continues Her Interesting Sketch of Her Journey From Salt Lake.

Ms. Enron.—I have left my travels in Salt Lake City so long I am afraid they have forgotten their own identity, but circumstances have been such I could not resume the journey at an earlier date. We left Salt Lake City one morning at 11 o'clock and reached Denver at 8 the next evening. The scenery on the Rio Grande Western R.R. is almost indescribable, and I am sure it would require a much longer pen than mine to give you even a faint idea of the beauty and grandeur. We stopped in Ogden about twenty minutes, but of course saw little of the main part of the city. A laconic porter informed us that most of the inhabitants between Ogden and Grand Junction were Mormons. Quite a number of the inhabitants of this region live in dugouts or underground houses. We saw several that seemed miles away from any other habitation, and imagined their owners hermits who had become so used to nature and had only animals as companions. We pitied him in his loneliness, and wondered why so many men in a bustling city, and though the cry of hard times is heard now, I think she will soon pull through with flying colors. Gov. Crittenden has an elegant, spacious home there on First Avenue, and I am told he dispenses hospitality in true Kentucky style. Kansas City has a thorough system of cable and electric cars.

After several delightful weeks spent in that delightful city, I left for Decatur, Ill., for a short stay. Decatur is a thriving city, surrounded by a fertile and lovely country. While there I called upon Mr. Robert Clark and family. Mr. Clark is an old resident of Meade, where his boyhood was spent. I reached Louisville the day of the great Democratic victory. Nov. 4th. I found myself once more in the dear old State, my heart gave a throb of joy, and it was sweet to breathe the atmosphere of home once more.

Why suffer sleepless nights when your baby is not well? You can buy Dr. Bull's Baby's Own All-Drug Store. We point with pride to the many cures performed by Old Salt's Catarrh Cure. Young and old unite in the praise of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all dealers. Price 25 cents.

We took the narrow gauge at 11:30 p.m. at Grand Junction. We were up by daylight the next morning ready to view the beauties of Black Canyon, which we reached about 3 o'clock. The scenery through the canon is rather awe-inspiring, but I think all the adjectives in the English language were exhausted in our efforts to express our admiration of the hundreds of feet high towers on either side, and great boulders would project out over the track seemingly ready at any moment to fall and crush us. The rocks were so varied in color and of many queer shapes. At times the rocks would diminish in size on one side of the canon, then we would have a view of mountained foliage, queer looking plants and a few wild flowers. The Colorado river winds its way through this canon, and is a beautiful stream, sometimes smooth and calm, and you could look for perfection anywhere. There are too many societies, in the church and out of the church, which cause divided effort, each tending to weaken or antagonize the other, whereas "in union there is strength." Concentrated effort, moral union, in place of divided councils, enforced morality. The law punishes offenders, but does not make men honest.

If you've got a pain or ache or a bruise, Salvation Oil will reach the case instantly. Price 25 cents.

Attention, Voters.—By resolution passed by our Legislature, all good citizens are requested to use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and recommend same as the people's remedy for coughs, colds, etc. 25 cents.

Gen. Johnston's Death.

Philadelphia Times.—Johnston was an able man, a brave officer, a high-toned gentleman and thoroughly honest and upright in every walk of life. He outlived the animosities of the war and was honored by men of all parties. The Chicago Herald: By reason of his courteous manners and fine abilities, no less than as a result of his patriotic acceptance of the changed conditions brought about by the change of the war, he was highly regarded at the North as well as at the South.

Chicago Times: When the war was over Gen. Johnston urged his friends to return to their homes and make the best effort to undo the evils of the past. Having fought bravely for his section, and having been fairly conquered, he threw the weight of his personality into the scale for a reconciliation of the Union and the burial of all bitterness.

St. Louis Globe Democrat: History will undoubtedly record him the most conspicuous place next to Lee among the Confederate commanders in the late war. It will, at least, be said that if his plans had been carried out two of the great campaigns of the war—that of Vicksburg and that of Atlanta—might not have been as successful to the Union side as they were.

Indianapolis News: It was a tribute to his character, a testimony to his great courtesy and gentle dignity that he was honored by men of all parties, and was held in such esteem and respect in the quarter of a century that he survived the great rebellion. Peace to his ashes. On fame's eternal camping ground he stands with the noblest of the brave who have gone before.

The sale which was advertised to come off here last Saturday in the case of Charles Reidel, etc., against D. Smith Duncan and others, was postponed, the defendants having satisfactorily arranged the judgment with the plaintiffs for the time being.

Mrs. Yeager, wife of J. C. Yeager, died at her home near this city Sunday night. Her funeral occurred from the Baptist church in this city, Monday, 2 p. m., Rev. W. K. Parnell officiating. Mrs. Yeager was a kind, affectionate wife and her death is a great loss to her family.

Mr. Harry L. Bell sends the News a lead of tobacco grown in this county by Martin F. Rodgers. It measures ten feet six inches in length, and is of barley variety. It is said by old tobacco raisers to be a very fine lead, and one of the largest they ever saw. Patterson & Brewster bought the crop.

A meeting of the members of the Cloverport Circulating Library will be held in the office of the Breckenridge Bank on Thursday, April 24, at 4:30 p. m., to take action toward T. C. Tinsley. The books are rapidly disappearing. Something must be done. The Society's attention is called to the advertisement of Gregory & Co. in this issue.

Their stock of fertilizers, lime, cement, shingles, lath, doors, sash, window panes, plastering hair, etc., is much larger this spring than ever before, and bottom prices is their motto.

G. A. Jackson, who left here three weeks ago to visit his father in Iowa for his health, died there last Thursday. His remains were brought here Saturday and interred in the Oglesby graveyard the same evening. Mr. Jackson was in his 44th year and leaves a wife and two small children.

The Allen hill road is now said to be in a worse condition than any other public road in the county. It is almost impossible. Every year this road gets in a fearful bad condition about the time of the spring rains, and this season it is said to be worse than common. The County Court should make an appropriation for this road.

S. L. Sulzer has begun remodeling the interior of his store rooms. The old fixtures will be replaced with the latest improved and most modern to be had in the county. Mr. Sulzer is determined not to be behind in the procession when it comes to store improvements. He said to his manager, Mr. Nolte, "Go ahead and make it the most attractive place in Cloverport," and that's just what Mr. Nolte will do.

Robbers attempted to break into Sulzer's store Monday night, but were driven off by Eugene Goff, who stands guard there at night. Eugene fired at them just as they were in the act of entering the door, which they had nearly succeeded in prizing open. Eugene put on a bold front and stood his ground like a man, and the robbers left in double quick time.

Mr. Eugene Vest, of Wm. Vest & Sons, left last Sunday for the East, where he has gone to lay in his spring purchases. The business of this firm is growing rapidly, and in order to meet the growing demands a trip East and buying direct from first hands made it necessary for Mr. Vest to visit the markets in New York.

There is a new store now under going a thorough overhauling by the painters, paper-hangers and carpenters, and by the time their spring arrivals begin to come in it will look like a modern bazaar. Watch for their opening day.

A Word of Advice.

Editor BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

Seeing you are ever ready to give a helping hand to right and to set all things in proper shape, I will, with your permission, give a few words of advice where I think it is needed.

I noticed in your column, under date of March 25, a letter signed by a Wheeler in answer to a letter written by Capt. Gross some time before in regard to a third party in our county. Now I do not wish to do Capt. Jack's fighting for he is more than able to do that, but my object in this letter is to get my brother right, and not only him, but any others that may have strayed away from the path of duty. Now, my dear brother, you say you don't know what promises were made to the captain, when it was promised him it should not interfere with his party, but you know there was no such promises made to no one else that joins our lodge. Now, dear brother, before you had taken the obligation were you not informed that it should not interfere with your religion or politics? Now please turn to Digest page 43, section 58, and you will find that no one can be held ineligible to membership on account of his religious or political opinion. Our relation to politics is very properly explained in a letter to a member published in the Elizabethtown News from T. P. Gardner, president of the F. and L. Union, who says in the first place we are not a political party, we never can be unless we begin by changing our declaration of purposes and our constitution and by-laws. The very first principle provides that we shall labor in non-partisan spirit. Again, in the same letter, whenever a brother is introduced in a sub or county union while in session calling a convention or endorsing a candidate for office, or commending a man who is a candidate for office, the presiding officer should at once rule it out of order. No one can be an F. and L. Union candidate for office, there is no law for it, and is in direct violation of the spirit of our organization, and says examine closely the laws of our organization and you will see that the relation of our order to religion and politics are clearly related, and suppose a member should introduce a resolution, what discord it would bring, and we are not working for any party in existence or for its existence. Now, my dear brother, would it not be wise for us at our next meeting of the union to adopt the resolution, exclude we will never have a road system of the kind introduced by the Hardin County Union, which is the cause of our non-partisan spirit.

Whereas, A member can not be a partisan and a non-partisan at the same time.

Resolved, That a partisan spirit is in direct conflict with our declaration of purposes and all erring brethren should be put on the right track that this source of discord should be removed.

Now, my dear brother, you introduce that resolution and I will second it and make a speech on it. One more error my brother has fallen into, and that is that the F. and L. Union was organized under Cleveland's administration. If you will post yourself in regard to that you will find that it was organized July 29, 1879.

Hoping these few words of advice, given in the spirit they are given, will do my brother good and all others who are seeking to be discord in our grand and glorious organization. Let us lay aside this political sin which doth so easily beset us and enter upon our work that awaits us and go to work. Already the harvest is ripe, the fields are awaiting those who will go and work to-day. My best wishes is for the cause.

Is There no Way Out of the Mud?

We city the farmer who has to trudge through these bottomless roads with a handful of tobacco which he is bound to get to market in order to lay in supplies necessary to enable him to pitch his spring crop. It is a question whether he is entitled to any sympathy or not. If you ask him to vote for a tax for road purposes he will invariably go against it. If there is any class of people in the land who ought to be in favor of good roads, it seems to us it is the farmers. But it is next to impossible to get them to contribute in any way to better the road system of the country. They think it is the duty of the towns to build all the roads and keep them up to their benefit. And just as long as this state of feeling exists we will never have a road system worth a cent. Good roads help everybody and the interests of both farmer, merchant and tradespeople are mutual. It is no more the duty of the towns to build the roads of the country than it is for the people living in the towns to go out and work the farms without compensation. It is the duty of the towns to contribute their part of the expense in building good roads and they must generally do it when they are called upon. But they can't do it all, and it isn't fair and right that they should. Good roads, like everything else that is good in this world, come high, and it takes money to build them; and it's time our people, one and all, and who spend their backs together to solve the problem. Good roads are the only salvation for this country. You may talk about the tariff, free silver and 2 per cent. money, but they amount to nothing without good roads. Let everybody wake up, farmers, merchants, lawyers and doctors and all, to the importance of a good road system and we'll get it. The farmers' organization over the country couldn't do a better work than inaugurate a movement for better roads.

Miss Sue Board is teaching the summer school here.

Mr. Charles Atkinson, of Irvington, is visiting relatives near here.

Mr. Charles Moorman, Jr., who has been attending school at Hardinsburg, is now at home and a much wiser boy is he.

Messrs. C. C. Moorman and Major McCann were at Custer the 12th attending court.

Mr. George T. Mercer, of Rosetta, says he wants the Wheelers to send him to the Legislature in August. We can't do that, Captain George.

Dr. Miles White, of Lancaster, England, a veterinary surgeon, was here on the night of the 16th and gave an interesting lecture on the domestic animals.

Mr. Taylor Norris and Mr. John Richardson, two Wheelers, was a third party here. Every member of the "Bible" Wheeler held but one say they will endorse a Wheeler candidate for the Legislature.

Messrs. Dick Springdale, Jesse B. Trent and A. Smith, of Custer, were in our city the 14th. We think the boys were sent somewhere on the road and to come to our town to get your correspondent to tell them the way to Custer. They didn't go as told, but took a wild-goose chase and left every man's fence down between here and Custer that they went through.

The Big Spring Baseball Club Association met on the 14th for the purpose of organizing. Mr. C. F. Morris was elected captain on the second ballot. J. T. Sublett was elected to the position of pitcher.

Each member was assigned his position for the ensuing year as follows: C. F. Morris, pitcher; H. Norris, first base; H. Miller, second base; C. D. Harnett, third base; T. Harlin, shortstop; Nate Board, right field; J. J. Sublett, left field; B. Board, center.

GOVERNOR CLEVELAND

Writes to the Tariff Reform League of Indiana.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 23.—Ex-President Cleveland has written a letter to the Indiana Tariff Reform League declining to be present at the league's annual meeting. The full text of the letter is not given out for publication, but the closing paragraphs are made public. They are as follows:

"You will not, I hope, think it amiss if I suggest the necessity of pushing with more vigor than ever, the doctrine of your organization. I believe that the theories and practices which tariff reform antagonists are responsible for, if not all of the evils which afflict our people. If there is a scarcity of the circulating medium, is not the exporting worth trying, as a remedy, of leaving the money in the hands of the people, and for their use, which is needless taken from them under the pretext of taxation?"

"If the farmers' lot is a hard one in its discouraging struggle for better rewards of his toil, are the prices of his products to be improved by a policy which hampers trade in his best markets and invites the competition of dangerous rivals? Whether other means of relief may appear necessary to relieve present hardship, I believe the principle of tariff reform is more important aid in their satisfaction and that the continued and earnest advocacy of this principle is essential to the lightening of the burdens of our countrymen.

"Hoping that your organization may continue to be one of great usefulness and encouragement, I am, yours very truly, GOVERNOR CLEVELAND."

Don't be Gloomy.

Those who are the victims of mercurial poisoning, or who are suffering from chronic rheumatism, are inclined to take a gloomy view of life when, as the poet says, "Winter is folding his white tents and spring getting its thunderclothes together." Yet these victims have no reason to despair. S. S. S. is a sure remedy for all forms of mercurial poisoning. Though it is purely a vegetable medicine, it is powerful, indeed, when called on to chase away mercury, and the last lingering effects of mercury, out of the system. It performs the work with neatness and dispatch, as thousands of testimonials show.

How to Cure a Headache.

In case of the ordinary nerve headache, from which women suffer so much, authority, remove the dress waist, knot the hair high up on the head, over the way, and while leaning over the basin, place a sponge soaked in hot water, as hot as can be borne, on the neck. Repeat this many times, also applying the sponge behind the ears, and if the assertion of the writer is confirmed, in 10 to 15 minutes have caused so much misery will be felt to relax and smooth themselves deliciously, and very frequently the pain promptly vanishes in consequence. Every woman knows the aching face and general languor brought home from a hard day's shopping, or from a long round of calls and afternoon teas. She regards with intense dissatisfaction the heavy lines drawn across her eyes and mouth by the long strain of the social season, and when she must carry that weary countenance to some dinner party or evening's amusement, it robs her of all the pleasure to be had from the occasion. The cure is not the cure, nor bromides, or the many nerve sedatives to be had at the drug shop. Here, again, the sponge and hot water are advised by the writer. Simply, bathing the face in water, as hot as can possibly be borne, apply the sponge over and over again to the temples, throat, and behind the ears, where most of the nerves and sinuses of the head center, and then bathe the face in water running cold from the faucet. Color and smoothness of outline come back to the face, and a refreshing freshness and comfort is the result; and if a nap of ten minutes can follow, every trace of fatigue will vanish—Analysis.

NEW INDUSTRIES.

The Southern States Show 593 Established During the First Quarter of 1891.

Ninety-Three New Railroads Incorporated in Addition to the Industrial Showing.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., March 23.—The Tradesman's report of new industries established in the Southern States during the first three months of 1891, shows a total of 593 new industries, including 93 new railroads, 100 new manufacturing plants, 100 new cotton and woolen mills (which is somewhat below the number established in the corresponding period of 1890, and 612 in the corresponding period of 1889. The figures for the quarter show a healthy and growing condition in the South's material development.

During the three months there were established in the Southern States six agricultural implement works; six barrel factories; twelve boot and shoe factories (a comparatively new industry in the South, only two having been established in the first quarter of 1890, and one in the first quarter of 1889); three breweries; one bridge works; two car works; ten canning factories; forty-five cotton and woolen mills (which is somewhat below the number established in the corresponding period of 1890, but distribution is general, Georgia leading with twelve, South Carolina eight, Texas seven, and nearly every other Southern State being represented); fifty-eight large development and improvement companies organized, Texas leading with twelve and Alabama with ten; thirty-one electric light companies organized; twenty-two flour and grist mills; forty-seven foundries and machine shops (against forty-three in 1890, and forty-five in 1889); Texas leading with thirteen, Virginia nine, and the balance being equally distributed; nine blast furnaces organized, against twenty-three in the corresponding period of 1890, and twenty-seven in 1889; seven gas works organized; twenty-eight ice-manufacturing plants; fifty-three mining and quarrying companies incorporated; four mail works; eight oil mills; twenty-two new saw mills; one corresponding period of 1890; five pottery; one rolling-mill company; fifty-three street railway lines incorporated; twelve tanneries; thirty-two water works chartered; 141 wood-working plants, and seventy-nine miscellaneous industries.

The phosphate excitement in the South is shown by the fact that thirty-two new companies were organized during the quarter, nineteen of which were formed in Florida.

The extraordinary activity in railroad building in the South is evidenced by the fact that during the three months, ninety-three new railroad companies were incorporated; thirteen in Virginia, thirteen in North Carolina, twelve in Georgia, ten in Alabama, eight in South Carolina, and five in Tennessee.

The Tradesman says that the present indications point to continued activity in the Southern States in all industrial branches, and the ensuing year gives more flattering promise of substantial development in manufacturing growth than any previous year; a most gratifying feature of this year being the diversified character of the new industries.

The Third Scotch-Irish Congress.

The third annual Congress of the Scotch-Irish people of America will be held in Louisville, Ky., from May the 14th to the 17th next. The Congress, which was held in Pittsburgh, Pa., last year was attended by President Harrison and his Cabinet, besides hundreds of other distinguished men. The gathering this year will be more notable. It will assemble the elements of the race, from all parts of the United States and British America.

Among the other eminent speakers who will deliver addresses are Governor Buckner, Hon. W. C. F. Breckinridge, Judge Wm. Lindsay and Hon. Henry Watterson, of Kentucky; Rev. Stuart Acheson, of Toronto, Canada; Mr. Alexander Montgomery, of San Francisco; Hon. A. E. Stevenson, of Illinois; and Rev. Dr. J. H. Bryson, of Alabama.

The Scotch-Irish Society of America, with Mr. Richard Henry Stoddard as President, will have charge of the exercises; but it will not be strictly a society gathering. It will be more properly a national gathering, and will be a grand opportunity for the Scotch-Irish people to meet and unite, and to extend to all who come. The great attraction to visitors will be the presence of the Scotch-Irish people, and the special object of the gathering is to collect historical data relating to these pioneers and their descendants.

The Scotch-Irish Society of America is a branch of the national organization, and its special object is to collect historical data relating to these pioneers and their descendants.

Gov. Hogg's Veto Message.

Gov. Hogg upholds the honor of the State of Texas by his veto of the act accepting the McKinley bounty of 2 cents a pound on the sugar made on the sugar plantation that the State operates by convict labor. Like every other alleged benefit conferred by Republican patronage, this sugar bounty is coupled with conditions which give the agents of paternalism unlimited power to meddle with and "supercede" the private business and industry of the sugar planter who accepts it. Gov. Hogg declares, in a way to make his constituents more than ever proud of him, that the State of Texas cannot afford, for 2 cents a pound nor any other sum, to conduct its business of making raw sugar under license of the Internal Revenue Commissioner and under supervision of the spies of the Internal Revenue Bureau. His position is that if the State of Texas desires to raise sugar by convict labor, under no circumstances can she ask or accept of money so to do from any other government, nor can she yield to a supervision of any portion of her affairs by any other government, nor can she surrender the spirit which prompts this is nothing more than proper State pride, and the doctrine is a conservative and patriotic assertion of State Rights. If the bounty provision of the McKinley law is so declared unconstitutional, as Gov. Hogg says it ought to be, the individual planters who may be driven to accept the bounty will find the Internal Revenue Commissioner a most vexatious and annoying feature of the business.—St. Louis Republic.

OFFICE OF CHIEF CLERK,
LOUISVILLE, KY., March 19th, 1891.

MR. JOHN D. BARRETT,
Publisher Breckenridge News,
Cloverport, Ky.

Sir—Your favor of the 9th inst., concerning failure of your papers to promptly reach destination received. Upon investigation, I find that the postmaster at Hardinsburg reports the prompt arrival of the papers at his office, and that they are dispatched to McDaniels, that the only failure of the line has been due to high waters.

At present, there is no railway Postal Clerk Service on the trains between Louisville and Paducah, so that your papers cannot reach all the offices on that line on the day of publication. I am endeavoring to have a "mail" line, and hope to be successful. When this is done, I think you will have no trouble about the delay to your papers. I shall be glad to hear from you at any time, concerning any irregularities you may have on account of imperfect service, and will take pleasure in correcting them.

Very respectfully,
H. B. JENKINS, C. C.

Sugar Reduction and the Trust.

The cheapening of sugar on April 1st by the removal of the duty is a clever attempt to outwray with a cost of sweetening the McKinley bounty, but the people may rest assured that this also is mainly in the interest of the manufacturers and not in the interest of the consumer. The citizen should ponder these figures when he returns from the grocery, after ordering to outwray the cost of sweetening. He need not rejoice overmuch at his small saving on sugar. His joy will be tempered by a mental calculation as to how many years it will take for the Sugar Trust to absorb the entire currency of the country, at the new rate of $43.20 per acre, which is its share of the benefits of the new law.—St. Louis Republic.

A Success.

Royal Germetner is established as a remarkable success. Thousands of testimonials attest its virtue. Many of these are given by men and women of the highest standing in the most honored walks of life.

In the midst of a flourishing and rapidly increasing business, the price is reduced from $1.50 to $1 per bottle. This is done in the interest of those whose health and happiness is the private business and industry of the sugar planter who accepts it. Gov. Hogg declares, in a way to make his constituents more than ever proud of him, that the State of Texas cannot afford, for 2 cents a pound nor any other sum, to conduct its business of making raw sugar under license of the Internal Revenue Commissioner and under supervision of the spies of the Internal Revenue Bureau. His position is that if the State of Texas desires to raise sugar by convict labor, under no circumstances can she ask or accept of money so to do from any other government, nor can she yield to a supervision of any portion of her affairs by any other government, nor can she surrender the spirit which prompts this is nothing more than proper State pride, and the doctrine is a conservative and patriotic assertion of State Rights. If the bounty provision of the McKinley law is so declared unconstitutional, as Gov. Hogg says it ought to be, the individual planters who may be driven to accept the bounty will find the Internal Revenue Commissioner a most vexatious and annoying feature of the business.—St. Louis Republic.

Germetner is the coming success that has already come. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Germetner, or write to E. M. Coleman, General Representative, Louisville, Ky. Send for book containing particulars and history of wonderful cures.
